Experience makes a difference. Our dedicated staff is trained to specialize in senior living in order to provide the best possible lifestyle and service options for seniors. We welcome feedback from residents and families so that we may develop individualized programs and services that regularly exceed expectations. And to meet the changing needs of our residents, we also offer on-site assisted living so that they may continue receiving the care and attention that they deserve.

Richland Pines is owned and operated by Health Care Corporation, a family-owned company that has served seniors for over 35 years. A resident-centered approach to living and unsurpassed care has helped the company grow to eight senior living communities in South Carolina. Ask any of our many residents and their families and we think they will agree: Richland Pines offers life just the way you like it.
